Watershed Coalitions

Coalition for the Poudre River Watershed

About us:

The Coalition for the Poudre River Watershed (CPRW) is a Colorado registered non-profit business. We are currently seeking designation with the IRS as a 501c3 charitable organization.

Mission:

Promote the improvement of the ecological health of the Poudre River watershed through the collaboration of a broad range of stakeholders.

The short term work plan of the CPRW focuses on post-fire mitigation; the long range work plan would include pre-fire forest management within the identified watershed area.

Little Thompson Watershed Coalition

About us:

The Little Thompson Watershed Restoration Coalition is a group of landowners along the Little Thompson River plus stakeholders in the Little Thompson River. The Coalition is working to restore the Little Thompson Watershed following the disastrous floods of 2013. The Coalition is sponsored by the Big Thompson Conservation District, which is also supporting the Big Thompson River Restoration Coalition.

Mission: To restore and maintain the flood resiliency, ecological integrity and agricultural heritage of the Little Thompson River watershed.

Big Thompson Watershed Coalition:

About us:

Big Thompson Watershed Coalition aids to restore & enhance the BTR Corridor to meet the needs of local stakeholders while protecting critical ecosystem services that a healthy watershed provides.

Mission:

Working with the river and the public, The Big Thompson River Restoration Coalition seeks to restore and enhance the Big Thompson River Corridor to meet the needs of local stakeholders while protecting fish and wildlife habitat, water quality, native riparian and wetland plant communities and other critical ecosystem services that a healthy watershed provides. We are a coalition of individuals, non-profit groups, local businesses, and government entities seeking a collaborative, voluntary process to maximize the economic, social, recreation and environmental benefits of the Big Thompson River.

Company Overview:

The Big Thompson River Restoration Coalition is a newly-established coalition working to respond to the flooding in Fall 2013. BTRRC has established teams of technical advisors to visit sections of river, providing ecological and restoration recommendations for rapid response and long-term efforts. BTRRC also aims to obtain resources and recruit volunteers for approved restoration projects along the Big Thompson River corridor, provide recommendations about dealing with immediate issues and sign stakeholders up for participation in long-term restoration projects. In addition, the BTRRC facilitates communication between stakeholders and agencies that provide funding and/or authorization for river restoration projects.
